PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Freelance developer | 2020 - Present

I am a software developer specialising in web, mobile and desktop application development. I have more than three years of experience as a programmer, analyst and one as a project leader. These tasks have allowed me to develop different skills in software production. I work independently because of the flexibility of telecommuting, which allows me to study and thus strengthen my knowledge. This has given me the opportunity to lead small teams to manage medium-sized projects. I am passionate about programming and innovation, and I am always looking for new challenges and learning opportunities. I have been involved in several successful projects for private clients and small companies, using technologies such as React, Node.js, Firebase and Flutter. My main skills are user interface design, object-oriented programming and teamwork.

Tasks:

- Eliciting customer requirements.
- Software analysis and design.
- Software implementation.
- Elaboration of tests.
- Writing technical documentation.
- Software maintenance.
- Leading small work teams.
